

1940s Radio Drama

Bring the glitz and glamour of the Golden Years of Hollywood to life in this interactive, 1940s style radio show. Participants play the LIVE studio audience and volunteer to take part in theatrical action dramas, comedy skits and even faux vintage commercials!

Guests are encouraged to dress in glam Golden Years of Hollywood attire.

This fun, kitschy program can be formatted for in-person, virtual or hybrid audiences.

Segments Options:

- OPENING WELCOME: Hosts welcome viewers with a custom song written especially for you.
- TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES: Guests answer classic film-inspired trivia questions for nostalgic fun and friendly competition.
- PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENT (PSA) “Year in Review”: Your company's CEO or senior leader hits the stage, rounding up the milestone wins of the year.
- FAUX COMMERCIALS: Giggle at the kitsch of faux commercials for Jello, Heinz Ketchup and Alka Seltzer.
- EMPLOYEE SPOTLIGHT PANEL: Hosts interview "celebrity" employees about their contributions to the organization, a la Steven Colbert. Everyone's a star!
- SUSPENSE RADIO DRAMA: In this film noir-style radio play about dueling starlets, employees play foley sound effects: Rustling Leaves (cellophane), Footsteps (a pair of shoes clapping together), etc.
- MUSICAL FINALE: A fully choreographed, interactive reprise of opening custom song.
